

Transcript of video: National Nursing Professional Practice Model

As leaders, clinicians, researchers, innovators, and scientists, Kaiser Permanente nurses are advancing care to improve the health of our members, patients, and communities.

Our Professional Practice Model for Nursing supports nurses with a shared framework across all regions we serve and the continuum of care.

This model standardizes evidence-based care and elevates professional nursing at Kaiser Permanente.

At its heart is what matters most: the relationship between our patients, their families, and our nurses.

Built on partnership, respect, and compassion, these relationships are the cornerstone of trust, healing, and extraordinary care — for every patient, every time.

Our work is grounded in our shared core values: our deep commitment to patients and their families, compassion, professionalism, teamwork, integrity, and excellence.

From this foundation, we practice nursing both as an art and a science.

Our dynamic approach combines the discipline of nursing, professional practice, and caring science, connecting our values to our actions.

We listen deeply, build authentic relationships, apply evidence-based care, and remain present with ourselves and the people we serve.

Quality and safety, leadership, professional development, and research and evidence-based practice are the key pillars that turn our intention into action.

They guide how we learn, lead, innovate, and continually improve care across every setting.

We do this work best in an environment that's healing, caring, and collaborative, where nurses support each other, patients feel seen and heard, and teams work together to find better ways forward.

When all these foundational elements align, the impact reaches far beyond the bedside.

We support total health and well-being, strengthen families, and help communities thrive.

This is the Kaiser Permanente Professional Practice Model for Nursing: a shared commitment to extraordinary nursing care.
